Course Description

Immerse yourself in the whimsical world of medieval craftsmanship with our delightful 'Medieval Spoon Forging for the Modern Soul' class. Led by the legendary Sir Tindlewood the Crafty, this course invites you to step away from the humdrum of daily life and indulge in a bit of historical whimsy. Set in the charming seaside town of Brighton, participants will journey back in time to discover the art and skill involved in creating spoons during medieval times, a symbol of both practical utility and artistic expression. In this enchanting class, students will learn the foundational techniques of metalworking—understanding how to safely shape metal blanks into functional spoons using a forging hammer. Delve into the fascinating history of spoon forging and unravel the stories behind various designs. Personal creativity will be unleashed as students master decorative engraving, crafting unique designs inspired by historical motifs. Safety is paramount, so you'll also learn essential practices for using and storing your tools properly. At the end of the session, each participant will leave with a beautifully crafted, personalized spoon—a cherished memento of their medieval adventure. Perfect for adding a touch of historical flair to your kitchen or gifting to a fellow lover of the whimsical arts. Join us for a delightful blend of history, craftsmanship, and joy, bringing a touch of medieval charm to your modern life.
