Course Description

Unlock the hidden landscapes of your imagination with 'The Art of Doodle Cartography: Mapping Your Inner Worlds', a delightful exploration into the whimsical practice of creating personal maps. Led by the ever-enthusiastic Penelope Parchment, this class will guide you in transforming your thoughts, emotions, and daydreams into beautifully detailed doodle maps. Over the course of this lively session, you will learn the fundamentals of cartography with a twist. Each student will receive a sketchbook and a vibrant set of pens and pencils to bring their inner worlds to life. Penelope will introduce the basics of map-making, covering everything from creating scale with playful symbols to adding texture using fun, tactile materials like textured papers and stickers. Students will engage in exercises to represent emotions and ideas visually, crafting their own unique narrative maps that tell stories of personal journeys, dreams, and whimsical adventures. This process encourages personal reflection and self-expression, making it a therapeutic as well as an educational experience. With a focus on creativity and fun, this class offers a relaxed environment where adults can let their imaginations run wild, develop new artistic skills, and learn a novel approach to visual storytelling. Whether you're an experienced artist or a beginner, 'The Art of Doodle Cartography' promises an unforgettable journey into the art of imaginative map-making.
