Course Description

Join us for 'The Art of Wind Chasing: Aerial Adventures,' an enchanting course designed to reconnect adults with the playful side of the natural world. Set in the breezy landscapes of Chester, under the expert guidance of Gustave Breezewalker, students will embark on a whimsical journey to master the age-old sport of kite flying, while gaining a deeper understanding of wind patterns and meteorology. This delightful course begins with the basics of wind identification, where students learn to read the sky and predict shifts in the air currents. Gustave will guide them through crafting their own unique kite using the provided kit, encouraging personal expression through design. Once assembled, students will take their creations to the open fields, where they will learn techniques for launching and maneuvering their kites to dance with the wind. The course also delves into the science of wind formation, providing insights into how different patterns are created and how they can be harnessed for navigation and sport. By the end of the class, students will understand how to utilize their new wind compass for optimal kite flying and gain confidence in their aerial navigation skills. Expect laughter, learning, and a touch of whimsy as you chase the winds and let your kite soar in the invigorating Chester skies.
