Course Description

Welcome to "Clandestine Cloud Sculpting," a whimsical and enlightening journey through the sky's dynamic canvas in the picturesque landscapes of Devon. Led by the ethereal Professor Nimbus, this class invites adults to immerse themselves in the art and science of clouds. We begin with an exploration of meteorology, understanding how cloud formations affect our weather and mood. As you become adept at identifying various cloud types, you'll also learn how to interpret their shapes creatively. Is that a fluffy dog or a sprawling castle in the sky? Through imaginative storytelling, you'll uncover the narratives hidden within the clouds. Armed with a cloud spotting guidebook and portable weather station kit, you'll step outdoors to observe and document the ever-changing skyscape. Capture your visions in a personalized cloud diary, where artistic sketches and descriptive tales bring your observations to life. Create sketches of your favorite formations and craft stories inspired by what you see. This course not only enhances your meteorological knowledge but also enriches your creative spirit, allowing you to see the world above in a new, playful light. Come join us and transform everyday sky gazing into a whimsical yet educational endeavor that promises joy and endless possibilities. Embrace the clouds and let your imagination soar!
